

$$a^2 + b^2 = c^2$$

Geometry

You've discovered geometry, thanks to mathematicians like Euclid and Pythagoras. Now you can find the area, circumference, and perimeter of various shapes.

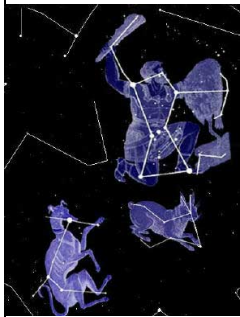

+3 jars each turn

Greek Writing

You've learned how to write! Now, using Greek letters, you can pass down much more information to your descendants! You can also write down long epic poems about Greek heroes.

+5 jars each turn

Astrology

You've been watching the movements of the stars and labeling the constellations. You come up with myths about these stars.

+2 jars each turn

The Arts

You've discovered how to create realistic bronze and marble statues of gods and other Greek heroes!

You also perform dramas and comedies!

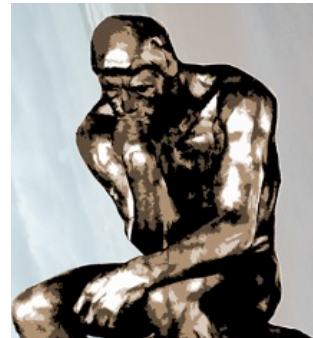

+4 jars each turn

Science

You've learned about medicine, thanks to Hippocrates. You believe the elements are earth, air, water and fire, and that the sun and planets go around the earth—thanks to Aristotle (some Greeks, though, believe the world consists of invisible “atoms” and that the earth goes around the sun).

+3 jars each turn

Philosophy

You've become very reflective on life, questioning the way things are. You've listened to the teachings of Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle and try to constantly seek knowledge.

+3 jars each turn

1 Jar of Olive Oil

Great for food,
sacrifices,
and before
sporting events!

1 Jar of Olive Oil

Great for food,
sacrifices,
and before
sporting events!

1 Jar of Olive Oil

Great for food,
sacrifices,
and before
sporting events!

1 Jar of Olive Oil

Great for food,
sacrifices,
and before
sporting events!

1 Jar of Olive Oil

Great for food,
sacrifices,
and before
sporting events!

1 Jar of Olive Oil

Great for food,
sacrifices,
and before
sporting events!

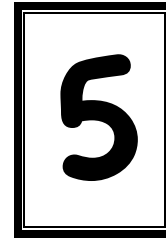

Baskets of Grapes

Perfect for the warm
Mediterranean climate!

Baskets of Grapes

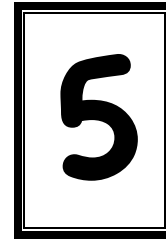

Perfect for the warm
Mediterranean climate!

Baskets of Grapes

Perfect for the warm
Mediterranean climate!

Baskets of Grapes

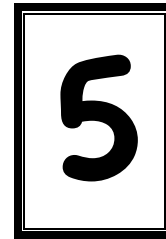

Perfect for the warm
Mediterranean climate!

Baskets of Grapes

Perfect for the warm
Mediterranean climate!

Baskets of Grapes

Perfect for the warm
Mediterranean climate!